A Message From the Arkansas Scholarship Lottery:

We here at the Arkansas Scholarship Lottery hope you are enjoying the glories of spring in Arkansas! This has been a time of renewal here at the ASL as well, with the recent announcement of Bishop Woosley being named the agency's new director. Woosley, a native of Stuttgart, was previously the chief legal counsel of the Arkansas Scholarship Lottery, and has been with the ASL nearly since its inception.

In other ASL-related news, following last month's report from the Arkansas Department of Higher Education showing an increase of more than 5 percent in the number of new high school graduates enrolling in Arkansas colleges with the grade point averages and test scores necessary to obtain Arkansas Academic Challenge Scholarships, we are proud to report more good news from the ADHE. Remediation rates for college and university students reached their second-lowest point since the ADHE began tracking the figures. The bottom line? Arkansas students are better prepared academically to enter college. We at the Arkansas Scholarship Lottery take pride in this achievement, and you should, too – a smarter Arkansas is a better Arkansas. And none of this would be possible without you. Thank you, ASL retailers!

MARCH METRO

location:

Metro, ground floor, Union Bank Building, Capitol Avenue and Louisiana Street, downtown Little Rock.

open since:

“Seven years,” according to Eric Tinner, Metro co-owner along with his wife, Kim.

ASL retailer since:

“Day one,” Kim said.

favorite thing about the lottery:

“It’s great – but retailers cannot expect the lottery to do everything for us. It’s up to [retailers] to educate personnel and players,” she said. “So I’ve always believed in taking the initiative. [Customers] don’t want to hear ‘I don’t know.’”

Favorite game for customers:

“The $2 and the $5 scratch-offs,” Kim said.

Do customers have any lucky tips?:

“Some have a system – the end of a [ticket] pack, the beginning of a pack, how many winners were in a pack ... It’s hard to gauge,” she said. “Educated players make the best players;” Kim added. “I have smart players!”

store specialty:

In addition to being an official U.S. Post Office outlet, Metro has snacks, gifts, magazines, purses, balloons and about anything else a downtown office worker might need.
